

You and any family members applying for a visa with you will need to have health examinations. You must be examined by one of the Immigration New Zealand approved panel physicians or clinics. A panel physician is a doctor or radiologist appointed by the department to do health examinations outside New Zealand at an approved clinic.

Please ensure that you take the following with you to the examination:

- Your original passport and a clear photocopy of your valid passport as identification, - no other form of identification is acceptable.

Below is the list of clinics where you can get the health examinations done:
